

EXPERIENCE

- SmartBot360, Research Intern Mar. 2019 - Current
  - Redesigned pages in the front end for a better UI/UX using Angular, and also added new features for users.
  - Wrote numerous SQL queries in Java to send and receive data in the back end.
  - Decreased the time to display core analytics from the database by more than 50%.
  - Responded to design-related and functionality-related feedback and made adjustments accordingly.
  - Communicated with a company client for troubleshooting and solving problems.

PROJECTS

---

- YouTube Analyzer Oct. 2020 - Dec. 2020
  - Developed a web app that displays and analyzes YouTube videos given a dataset.
  - Can edit the data, backup/load data into a new file, or display analytics as line graphs and pie charts.
  - Worked in a team of five and regularly ensured everyone was on track and doing their work.
  - Created most of the app architecture and front-end design. Also helped those who had trouble on the backend.
- Depush Mar. 2020
  - Created a Google Chrome extension that notifies you when new items are uploaded onto Depop.com.
  - Refreshes itself in the background periodically and uses the Chrome API to store your saved search terms.
  - Inspired by the same feature in the Depop app and the desire for an improved version of it on the web.
- Piano Tiles Feb. 2019 - Mar. 2019
  - Reproduced the popular game app, "Piano Tiles," on a breadboard.
  - Features sound effects, a score keeper, and the option to restart.
  - Utilizes Atmel Studio 7 and an ATmega1284 microcontroller, along with various breadboard components.
- RedditBot Nov. 2018
  - Built a bot that utilizes the API to send responses to users based on the content of their comment.
  - Oversaw a team and ensured the project's completion.
  - Introduced new ideas on how to develop the project while debugging compile-time errors.
